

Gordon E. (Mac) McPherson

Gordon E. (Mac) McPherson taught military ground flight school at Marquette University during World War II and then worked on contract engineering on NASA's Mercury, Apollo and Gemini projects). Mr. McPherson was not a veteran, however his close association with the military and his fame as an instructor inspires WVMFF to acknowledge him and his contribution. He is the grandfather of Eric Johnson editor of the FYI, a locally distributed newspaper in the area.